

WHEN CHARCOAL WAS BURNED ALONG THE UNION PACIFIC

Samuel E. Bower of Salt Lake City, forest assistant on the Wasatch forest, is at the local district forest office for a few days, and will go to Evanston Monday, to secure additional figures as to volumes of lodgepole pine trees above 15 inches in diameter. The principal use of the tables prepared from these figures will be to estimate the quantity of timber which can be split from trees of various diameters at breast height.

The study will be conducted in connection with the tie-cutting operations of the Standard Timber company, on Mill creek, a tributary of Bear river, and Black Fork of the Green, in the Wasatch forest.

In his field work last summer, Mr. Bower was in the vicinity of the old Union Pacific timber flume, used over 30 years ago to transport wood for charcoal from the headwaters of Hayden creek to a point on the Bear river, where it was sufficient to facilitate "driving" to the railroad, about six miles east of Evanston. This was probably the most extensive timber flume constructed in this region, and large quantities of timber were made accessible in this way in the early days.

The area cut over is now covered by a dense growth of young timber which evidently sprang up immediately after the first cutting, except that in spots this was entirely destroyed by fires before the creation of the national forest.

It is not now practicable to estimate the exact grade of the trough of the flume, but it appears that it was slight. At several points there were curves, and the remaining platforms in nearby trees indicate that watch stations were maintained to observe that the flume did not become blocked with the floating timber. It is interesting to learn how slight a grade in a flume will transport timber satisfactorily.

Mr. Bower's floating material will move faster than the water that carries it, and that the heavier timber, so long as it floats, the faster it will travel, but this has been disputed. Tests made in a sluiceway, where timber was being floated, proved that all the timber was not carried by the time the water had disappeared, and water colored along side timber in a stream moves faster than the timber.

HENRY PETERSON IS TO LEAVE THE HIGH SCHOOL

Principal Henry Peterson of the Ogden high school last night tendered his resignation to the board of education at its regular meeting. The resignation came through a letter presented to the board by Superintendent John M. Mills, as follows:

"My Dear Superintendent Mills—It is incumbent on me to inform you at this the earliest possible time that I am not open to engagement in the Ogden school system for the next year, having accepted another position.

"I take this opportunity to express my hearty appreciation of the cordial relations that have existed between us and for the support that you and the board of education have given me.

"It is not for higher salary that I leave. I shall receive no more in my new position than I should have had next year. But here my hands are tied, I can not realize my ideals and you and the board of education, with all your good will toward me and the institution over which I preside, are powerless to help me. In my new place I shall have a 30 acre campus, a splendid gymnasium, and a commodious, well-equipped shop.

"Thanking you for the favors of the past, and assuring you and the board of my continued esteem, I am,

"Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) "HENRY PETERSON."

No official action was taken on the resignation of Principal Peterson, but some of the board members, after the meeting, said that they regretted very much the necessity of losing him from the local school system. Superintendent Mills spoke of the friendly relations that had existed between the principal and the board of education and also between him and Mr. Peterson, but he realized that the educator desired a field in which his plans could be better carried out. President Pngree stated that he considered Mr. Peterson one of the best high school principals that could be secured.

Professor Henry Peterson has been in Ogden since September, 1912, and came here from Box Elder county, where he was superintendent of schools for several years.

At this session the committees were appointed and some of the reports read. The meeting was adjourned for lunch at 12:30 p. m.

National Commander Gardner was the guest of honor at lunch, being entertained at the Weber club by the committee from Dix-Logan post. Several of the staff officers of the department of Utah also were in the party.

The chief business session of the encampment began at 2:30 p. m.

Resolutions Passed.

The following resolutions were adopted by the department of Utah, Grand Army of the Republic, in its Thirty-second annual encampment this afternoon:

"Resolved, That we return grateful thanks to Divine Providence that so many of us are permitted again to meet in annual encampment to exchange fraternal greetings with each other and to mourn our comrades who have left us during the year just past. That until our time of muster out comes, we will continue to bravely face the future doing what we may for good government and the honor of Country and Flag.

"Resolved, That it is especially gratifying to us to have with us on this occasion our loved and honored commander in chief, Comrade Washington Gardner. We trust his stay in the Bee Hive state may be so pleasant as to long remain a green spot in his memory.

"Resolved, That we acknowledge our indebtedness to Hon. William Spry, governor of this state, for his heroic and patriotic labors in securing the necessary funds to meet the expenses of the old soldiers both Union and Confederate, in attending the jubilee celebration on the historic field of Gettysburg on the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th of July last.

"Resolved, That we rejoice that the last vestige of unkindly feelings that too long separated Americans North from Americans South, has forever disappeared and that we are not only in theory, but in fact, as we should be, a united, happy and prosperous nation of brothers standing together for one country and one flag against all the rest of the world.

"Resolved, That we tender our thanks to Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, for his courtesy in granting us the use of the tabernacle and the services of the tabernacle choir on the occasion of our camp fire and reception to our commander in chief in Salt Lake City on the evening of Monday, March 16, 1914.

"Resolved, That our thanks are due and are hereby tendered to the patriotic people of this city of Ogden for the reception and entertainment they have given us.

"Resolved, That we again express our grateful appreciation of the continued good work of our sisters of the Relief Corps and the Ladies of the Grand Army.

"Resolved, That we fully appreciate the help and support which the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks give to the Grand Army in our Memorial day exercises and also in the reception and entertainment of our commander in chief.

"Resolved, That we tender our thanks to our retiring officers for their most efficient management of our department affairs during the past year.

The committee on resolutions was composed of the following:

M. M. Kaighn, W. M. Bostaph, M. H. Kester, J. M. Bowman, Seymour B. Young.

Election of Officers.

The meeting was still in session at press time with reports of other committees to be heard and the election and installation of officers to be held.

The outgoing officers are State Commander, J. P. Rankin, post No. 1, Salt Lake City; Senior vice commander, J. P. Rankin, post No. 2, Ogden; Junior vice commander, J. F. Smith, post No. 6, Provo; chaplain, N. D. Corser, post No. 7, Salt Lake City; medical director, Dr. A. K. Smith, post No. 1 and patriotic instructor, F. M. Bishop, post No. 1.

Comrade N. A. Heath of Dix-Logan post, Ogden, was prominently mentioned for the position of state commander and his election seemed a foregone conclusion. Comrade Heath has a splendid record of service. Enlisting before the first battle of Bull Run, he fought in that battle, was captured and spent six months in the Libby prison. After his liberation, he fought in the battle of Gettysburg.

He was one of the first passenger conductors on the Union Pacific railroad after that road was opened in 1869.

BASEBALL SEASON TO BE DIVIDED INTO TWO SERIES

The leaders of the Union Baseball association, consisting of representatives of the six clubs that the now in the league, are in session at the Reed hotel today to decide on the schedule for the season. Those in attendance are:

President, E. F. Murphy of Butte; Larry Dugan of Butte; J. F. Flannery of Helena; H. C. Bigelow of Ogden; W. O. Reif of Salt Lake City; M. R. Evans of Boise and Dr. C. P. Harvillie of Murray. W. D. Brown of Ogden is acting as secretary.

President Murphy states that, while the schedule will be decided on at the meeting today, it will not be published until the latter part of March. He also states that the balance of the forfeit money will be paid into the association on the 1st of April.

It is said by the president that prospects for the season's games under the direction of the association are bright and that there is little question but what the present year will be more successful, and more satisfactory to the fans than ever before. He is pleased with the six-team arrangement and claims that the itinerary can be regulated to much better advantage than heretofore.

No information is at hand respecting the holiday schedule for the season and that is one of the questions that is being threshed out today.

President Murphy states that in all likelihood it will be "play ball" about April 29, and that the three games will begin in the district south of Montana. It is probable that the first games of the season will be played at Boise, Ogden, and either Salt Lake or Murray.

The board took a noon recess at 1 o'clock and repaired to the Weber club where President Archie Bigelow of the local club entertained the board.

C. D. Blankenship, manager of the Murray team; William Holmes, manager of the Butte team, and Herbert Hester, manager of the Salt Lake team, are visitors in Ogden. They say, however, that they are not connected in any way with the meeting of the board of directors, but are simply to partake of the hospitality of the Ogden fans and eat Ogden canyon trout.

The managers all say that this year's ball promises to be more interesting and satisfying to the fans than any season in the history of the association. They claim that the teams are so evenly matched that all the fans should be maintained to the end of the season.

A resolution for a two series schedule of games was presented at the meeting this morning by President A. P. Bigelow of the Ogden club and unanimously adopted. The resolution calls for two series of 10 weeks each. The winning teams will meet at the close of the season in a series of seven games to battle for the pennant. Four games will have to be won by one of the two teams to decide the championship.

VICE PRESIDENT HAS BIRTHDAY

Washington, March 14.—Today marked the sixtieth birthday anniversary of Vice President Marshall. He and Mrs. Marshall were speeding on their way to Hot Springs, Va., where, free from the cares of official life, the occasion will be celebrated by a birthday dinner tonight.

The celebration really began last night when the Marshalls were presented with a huge birthday cake decorated with the shield of the United States, the vice president's name and the date of his sixtieth birthday. In account of Mr. Marshall's youthful appearance only six candles adorned the top of the cake. The cake will form the central setting of the Marshall birthday dinner tonight.

On the eve of his departure for the Virginia Springs, the vice president was being congratulated by diplomats and those prominent in official life on his robust health and youthful appearance.

"You certainly don't look 60 years old," they chorused.

"I feel young by not thinking about the years," he replied.

"I have seen a great many babies born and I want to live to be in my second childhood. This is a good old world to live in."

AMERICAN EXPORTS EXCEED IMPORTS

Washington, March 14.—With imports approximating $154,400,000 and exports in excess of $204,100,000 the foreign trade of the United States during the first month of this year aggregated more than $358,500,000 according to the Department of Commerce today. The balance of trade in favor of the United States during January was about $30,000,000. Imports for the seven months period ending with January amounted to almost $1,067,900,000 and exports $1,523,100,000, an aggregate trade in excess of $2,590,000,000.

The best customers of this country during January and the seven months period ending with that month were the United Kingdom, Germany, Canada, and France in the order named. These countries retained the relative positions held by them in the corresponding periods of the preceding year.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE URGED

Boston, March 14.—The state patrol board to which was referred the petition of William A. Dorr of Stockton, Cal., murdered of George E. Marsh, for commutation of the death sentence, is evidently divided on the question of recommending the appointment of a lunacy commission to examine the condemned man, it was learned today.

The board will meet again on Monday in the hope of reaching some agreement. Unless the council intervenes Dorr will die in the week beginning March 22.

ANGRY CROWD THREATENS MEN

Kansas City, Mo., March 14.—A crowd of 3000 persons gathered in front of the court where Vik Gueringer, Oscar Harrison, Leo V. Brennan and Bert Kincaid, charged with attack Mrs. Gertrude Shidler last Monday, were arraigned today.

When the men were taken from the court room, scores shouted "get a rope!" "Lynch them!"

Thirty policemen protected the prisoners, who were returned safely to jail.

Each of the men was bound over without bail to the criminal court.

PUBLIC AND PRESS EXCLUDED AT TRIAL

Lewes, England, March 14.—A sentence of five years' penal servitude was pronounced at the Assizes here today by John Love Elliott of New York. He was found guilty by the jury of flagrant breaches of the law, the nature of which was such that the public and the press were excluded from the court room during the trial which lasted six days.

The public prosecutor caused the arrest of Elliott on November 21 last on information sworn to by Elliott's neighbors, who declared their affidavits were made on statements by the prisoner's two daughters, Florence and Dorice, with whom he resided for several months at East Grinstead, Sussex.

DOUBLE TRACKING OF RIVER ADVOCATED

Washington, March 14.—Before the senate commerce committee today, considering means of preventing Mississippi floods, S. D. Lake of Memphis, Tenn., proposed a "double tracking" of the river. He would have the government dig a channel from Cairo to the gulf, 110 yards wide and twelve feet deep, three miles distant from the present river bed. To acquire land for that purpose, Mr. Lake declared, would cost $18,000,000. He gave no estimate of the cost of construction of such a canal.

MAN IS KILLED BY STREET CAR

San Francisco, March 14.—A well dressed man supposed to be William Morcher of St. Louis, was killed here today by a street car. The only clue to his identity was a promissory note for $500 made out to William Morcher by George Siegel & Sons, stone masons, of 3113-A Rutger street, St. Louis.

VILLA WANTS TO BE PRESIDENT

One Time Bandit Has Abiding Ambition to Be Next Ruler of Mexico.

HARMONY WITH CHIEF General Will Remain Supreme Commander With Chief as a Figurehead.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 14.—"Villa, the one-time bandit, will be the next president of Mexico. That is his ambition and, despite all reports to the contrary, it will remain his ambition until he either is dead or president."

This declaration was made today by a friend so close to General Villa as to give authority to the assertion. It was prompted by reports that the coming of Chihuahua of General Venustiano Carranza who is recognized as civil head of the revolution was to bring about conditions more satisfactory to foreign governments and to place in the seat of authority better advisers than General Villa appears to have in handling the complications growing out of the killing of William S. Benton, a British subject.

That Villa and Carranza might meet as an evidence of their perfect harmony was given out as a possibility.

Carranza a Figurehead.

General Carranza now is on his way overland from Sonora. A magnificent marble building has been prepared as the official residence or capitol in which he will perfect the details of government. But it was stated emphatically that the coming of Carranza is not to lesson in any way the power now wielded by Villa, who for months has been a dictator. "General Villa will remain supreme commander throughout the progress of the revolution," said one of his advisers. "His federal army, his driving the Huerta soldiers from the north of Mexico while Carranza remained in comparative obscurity on the Pacific slope, have so exalted him in the minds of his soldiers as to make his subordination to any one else improbable."

"General Villa could not afford to go south at the head of his troops in the attack on Torreon before he had first satisfied himself that his going will not result in the loss of any of his power."

Strange Conditions Prevail.

In the absence of any indications that General Villa intended to move southward immediately, this city, the largest in rebel territory, apparently has resigned itself to an indefinite state of revolution. Outwardly conditions are almost normal. The military band discourses -jorative music in the plaza, crowds promenade in the Indian garb only in a blanket, a pair of boots and a silk hat, joins the parade and an enterprising merchant has opened a soda water fountain. But the bugle calls, the silent disappearance of almost all the federal soldiers, the reports of executions and the general knowledge that many people for months have been hiding in basements of buildings, form another aspect of life here which is little mentioned.

Villa is Dictator.

The man on the hill—General Villa, who resides on an elevation a few blocks from the United States consulate—is the one individual who can pronounce life or death for any of those who stroll in the plaza or hide in the basements.

Residing in his own marble home not far from the plaza, but held a prisoner, is Luis Terrazas, Jr., son of one of the richest families in Mexico under the Diaz regime. As he paces up and down the tiled floor of his prison, he is knowing what moment he may be called to face the firing squad. Terrazas can hear the cathedral bells and at night the military band. When today the prisoner appeared to be utterly hopeless of his release, he has been confined here ever since General Villa's army entered the city last December.

Terrazas is Hopeless.

When told his father, who is now a refugee in El Paso, was making every effort to procure his release, the prisoner merely shook his head. More than once since his detention he has been subjected to tortures to reveal places where Terrazas money was supposed to be hidden.

As understood here Terrazas is being held by the rebels for three purposes. They are:

"So that money may be extorted from the Terrazas family; so that by threatening to execute the prisoner, the Cientifico party may be dissuaded from invading Mexico from the north and so that the prisoner may sign documents turning Terrazas property over to Villa."

JOBLESS MEN STILL IN YOLO

County Officials No Near Solution of Problem—Unions Providing Food.

Sacramento, Cal., March 14.—"General" Kelley, chief of the unemployed who are still camped today in Yolo county, to which it was driven from Sacramento on Monday.

Yolo county officials were no nearer a solution of the problem of getting rid of the army than they were last Tuesday. Every proposal to divide the army and send the men away in small groups has met opposition in some quarter. Sacramento labor unions continued today to supply the camp with food.

working conditions. The letter complained of alleged brutality shown in routing the army from Sacramento and included the statement that proof of the death of at least one of the unemployed could be supplied.

"Captain" J. Murray of Company L of the army, who had been listed as dead by the unemployed, rejoined his command today. He said he was ill at the time of the Sacramento conflict, in which he was not a participant.

PLAN TO MOVE IDLE MEN IS ABANDONED

Portland, Ore., March 14.—Although Chief of Police John Clark planned yesterday to close at once the Gypsy Smith Tabernacle, where 1500 idle men have lodged during the winter, it was decided later at a conference with Mayor H. R. Albee to postpone the action. April 1 probably will be the date on which the men will be driven out and forced to accept employment or leave the city.

The plan to rout the unemployed yesterday was the outgrowth of the refusal of most of them to go to work as section hands for the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company. It was said that after a hundred men had signed up, Industrial Workers of the World organizers induced them not to leave on the allegation that the railroad was "unfair."
